For while Americanization means much more than the English language and civics, English is the indispensable key. A general provision for teaching it would be a tremendous achievement, for we have never had this before. We now have facilities for perhaps one immigrant in ten in the best equipped states, and for none at all in some states. We have requirements for naturalization and - no facilities for meeting them. We tell every immigrant that to be a citizen and a competent resident of the United States, he must be able to use the English language and show that he is attached to the principles of the Constitution. But we have not thought it our responsibility to provide the ways and means. And therefore if night schools and classes on an adequate scale were now provided for in every community with a considerable foreign-born population, we should have at least an Americanization policy and program; and we should be infinitely further along on the road to national unity than we now are. But though we should have the machinery, we should not have Americanization. We should still have to connect the immigrant with the schools. At present this...
