Quayle, A. M. Of Baker University: Thursday Evening, Sept; 11, 1890 For what end do I exist? To answer this question, I ask another. What is this individual class of beings which we call men? Bodies, subject to all the general conditions of the higher order of animals, furnish a temporary abode for the mind. The body without this occupant is helpless, useless, offensive. Mind gives expression, action, direction to the body. Mind administers to the wants of the body in directing its natural energies for self-preservation and growth. Natural animal instincts and desires are subject to the control of mind. The mind s highest interest is in seeing that the body is kept in the best possible condition for its use. Mind, though a unit, has many parts. Like those of the body, these parts or departments of mind have their distinct offices and their mutual relations. Intellect is defined: The thinking power in man. About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic...
